

SPAR WAR
LONDON'S
BOXING BOOM

PLUS INSIDE THE COURT OF
KING WILLIAM

HOT STUFF

GEORGIA MAY JAGGER:
MICK AND JERRY'S
MILLION DOLLAR BABY

es magazine

25 March 2011

• Snap away... Live out your wildest National Geographic fantasies on one of Abercrombie & Kent's photographic trips to some of the world's most spectacular destinations. Led by acclaimed photojournalist Jon Nicholson, options include the high plateau and monasteries of Lhasa in Tibet in May; the beaches and historic architecture of Essaouira in Morocco in June; and in September, the River Ganges at Varanasi, the Taj Mahal, and tiger-spotting in Ranthambore in India (abercrombiekent.co.uk).

• Lighten up... For a slightly different summer holiday, try a stay

CHECK OUT
Edited by Hettie Harvey

at the Grebeni Lighthouse in Dubrovnik. Part of the Dubrovnik Palace Hotel, the self-contained lighthouse sleeps seven people, and is accessed by boat but guests can make use of the full hotel facilities, including three outdoor pools, five restaurants, four bars, tennis courts, a spa, kids' club, and yoga classes, not to mention watersports including jet ski safaris and scuba diving. The hotel will even supply a butler and chef. From €400 per night (00385 20 430 830; alh.hr).

• Life's a tomato... Travel company Black Tomato has launched a new online magazine devoted to all things beachy and called it - you guessed it - Beach Tomato. The site includes everything from the lowdown on secret beach hideaways, to fashion advice, beauty tips - even holiday playlists and ideas for surfside games (beachtomato.com).

• Bally brilliant... Set in 600 acres of private parkland at the foot of the Slieve Bloom mountains in the heart of Ireland, just 90 minutes from Dublin, Ballyfin (right) is a gem of a grand country house hotel. Set to open in May, the recently restored Georgian building has just 15 bedrooms, each immaculately decorated with Irish artworks, sumptuous fabrics and four-poster beds, as well as a lake and woods to explore and follies and grottoes to discover. From €750 per room per night (ballyfin.com).

